Black Bear Hunt 45 Years Ago

In Tack's column in the Globe-News the first of this week, he asked if anyone in this part of the country had ever killed a mountain lion or bear.

C. P. Sheinutt reported to the News Office, that he and Terry Rusk, R. M. Rusk, Jim Rogers, father of Paul Rogers, and Buster DeGraffenreid spotted a black bear one Sunday afternoon, 45 years ago southeast of what was then Canyon City. They took after him on horseback, and after much difficulty managed to rope his hind legs and pull him down. After trying him they had to beat the bear to death with an axe, having no gun with which to shoot him.

That was probably one of the last big black bears seen in this part of the country.

Case Filed on Robbery Charge Against Trio

In view of the fact that the KLYN radio transmitter is located in Randall county, charges of robbery with firearms were filed Monday against the Rader twins and Edward Lee Farris. The three desperadoes were recaptured Saturday afternoon in Amarillo after their escape early Wednesday morning from the Potter county jail.

The three spent the time between their escape and Saturday afternoon in an abandoned farm house southeast of Amarillo.

When flushed out of hiding by two boys and a girl who were hunting for rabbits the trio made a run for the radio transmitter where they held up the engineer, A. B. Clopton, at gunpoint and stole his car. They pulled the telephone wire from its circuit, but Clopton succeeded in wiring in to interrupt a program which was in progress. Officers were soon hot on the trail of the trio.

Sheriff M. E. Cantrell conferred with District Attorney Lloyd King in Amarillo Sunday before the charge was filed.

Survey Is Being Made to Select Holidays Which Will Be Observed In Canyon During the Year of '50

What holidays shall be observed in Canyon during 1950 is the query that will be answered in a survey to be taken soon by the Chamber of Commerce.

In years past when some one decided to have a holiday they would get out a petition, and it would be decided the day before closing time that the holiday would be observed. Due to this confusion, the Chamber decided that survey should be made of business firms in order that a concerted action could be announced in advance of each and every holiday.

A list of holidays have been compiled which have been observed in the past with the view of giving each and every firm in Canyon a chance to state whether or not they wish to observe the holiday when it comes around in 1950.

All business firms in Canyon are requested to study the below suggested list of holidays, check the ones which they wish to observe, and have it ready to give to Secretary A. B. Holt when he calls:

Water Demands of City Goes Up as Building Grows

Due to unusually heavy rainfall during the summer months, there has been a slight decline in the use of water in Canyon for 1949, according to figures compiled at the city hall by E. T. Cummings.

For the 10-year period of April 1, 1934 to March 31, 1944, the average yearly production of water was 77,033,000 gallons.

For the five-year period, April 1, 1944 to March 31, 1949, the average annual production jumped to 146,980,000 gallons. The peak production was in 1947-8, when 177,210,000 gallons were produced.

For the five months period of April 1, 1949 to Nov. 18, 1949, the total production was 76,740,000 gallons, with the peak load going to 21,200,000 gallons during May.

No rain has fallen during November, and irrigation may show a heavy use of water for the month.

The increase in water consumption is clearly indicated by the increased number of residences in Canyon.

If You Are 85, 45 or 3, Hadacol Helps All Ages

HADACOL is good for all ages, bringing five of nature's B vitamins and important minerals to the young and old alike. Recently the HADACOL folks received the good news that among the countless thousands who had been benefited by HADACOL were a lady of 85, a man of 45 who felt like he was 18, and a beautiful little girl only three years old.

Mrs. Edmond Doucet, of Church Point, La., is 85 years old, having thousands of friends in the picturesque Evangeline section of Louisiana where she was born and has spent all of her life. These friends are happy to know that Mrs. Doucet feels better now than at any time in two years and gives the credit to HADACOL.

"I had been sick for almost two years and was suffering with gastric disturbances and bloating. I was run down, had lost weight and had to stay in bed most of the time. I lost courage and felt that there was no hope for me."

Mrs. Doucet had tried many preparations without apparent beneficial results when she heard the glorious news about HADACOL.

"After taking several bottles of HADACOL I felt like a new person," said Mrs. Doucet. "I eat anything I want without ill effects and sleep well. I feel much stronger."

Neville Dugas, of Route 1, Box 101 B, Carencro, La., is a successful farmer who had worked early and late at all kinds of hard work and it wasn't so long ago that he wondered if he would ever be able to work that way again. He had tried many medicines, but felt no better.

"I had all kinds of stomach disturbances," said Mr. Dugas. "My stomach was so bloated that it felt like it would swell up and burst. I suffered with gastric disturbances, heartburn and was run down and nervous. I had no appetite and suffered with headaches and I couldn't sleep at night. I was so drawn and pale that my friends had difficulty in recognizing me. After the third bottle of

The head of the house was reading a newspaper article very carefully. When he had come to the end he remarked to his wife:

"Do you know, dear, I think that the cleverness of the father often proves a stumbling block to the son."

His wife heaved a sigh of relief. "Well, thank goodness," she said, "our Bobby won't have anything to fall over."

ECONOMICAL

"Pop, if I saved you a dollar would you give me 50 cents of it?"

"Yes, I guess so, son."

"Well I saved it for you. You told me you would give me a dollar if I passed in arithmetic and I didn't pass."

Belle Boyd, the famous woman spy of the Confederacy, once lived in Texas. About 1870, she and her husband moved to Dallas and lived there for a number of years. She was living in Martinsburg, Va., at the outbreak of the Civil War and even after the Confederates had left and the Union forces had occupied the town, the Stars and Bars continued to flutter from the attic window of the Boyd home. A squad with a corporal at the head entered the house, brushing Belle aside and made their way upstairs. The young woman followed, just in time to see her mother staggering from a blow as the corporal thrust her aside. Belle had a pistol in her hand. She raised the weapon and fired, killing the corporal.

She was tried by the military authorities but her words, "He laid rough hands on my mother," won her freedom. The Boyd home was filled with Union soldiers with whom Belle flirted and from whom she obtained military information which she wrote on thin paper and then either carried the message to the Southern camp herself or sent it by a slave in a big silver watch, from which the works had been removed.

When the home was commandeered as headquarters for Gen. Shields, she and her mother were moved to a smaller cottage on the grounds. She observed, one day, a great stir around the house and sensed that something important was in the air. She slipped unseen into the mansion and hid herself in an upstairs bedroom, in a closet, over the living room and spent hours there. Sure enough, that night a conference was held and the words of Gen. Shields came up to her clearly. She made notes in the darkness and had Shields' complete plan for capturing Stonewall Jackson and his men.

Two Union soldiers entered the room, not knowing that a few steps from them in the closet was the brave girl. The soldiers went to bed and at last their breathing told her that they were asleep. She tiptoed out of her hiding place, crossed the room, crept down the stairs and soon was galloping across the mountain to the Confederate lines. She was halted by a Union sentry who placed a gun barrel across her horse's nose.

"My brother is dying and Gen. Shields has given me a pass to go see him," she said—and produced a pass, which actually was genuine, though of course, the general had not known that it would be put to this use.

Two more times she was stopped by sentries but each time was permitted to go on and at last from the dark came the words, "Who goes there?" It was a Confederate sentry. But even though she had delivered the information, she must get back home undiscovered and near the end of the journey, through weariness and nerve strain, she ignored a sentry's challenge, lay low on the neck of her horse, spurred the animal and heard the bullets whiz harmlessly past. Next morning, when callers came, there was Belle Boyd in the cottage door, smiling graciously.

Later, she received a message:

"Miss Belle Boyd, I thank you for myself and for the army for the immense service you have rendered your country today. Hastily, I am your friend"—and it was signed by "Stonewall" Jackson.

Memphis is the Old South—but on a recent visit, I saw more horses there than you'll see in Fort Worth, capital of the ranch country. There were several mounted policemen; and even an old dray drawn by a pair of horses; and quite a few wagons with a driver and a helper who took turns in calling out, melodiously, "Co"—(coal).

Lots of coal is still burned in Memphis and a company has a window display consisting of large lumps of coal which have been washed—and maybe polished.

The lower reaches of Main Street still abound in tailor shops—there must be a dozen in two blocks. And the upper stretches of Main have stores which are old curiosity shops, with suitcases, gum boots and chairs displayed on the sidewalk.

The Gayoso Hotel where, when I was a boy, the aristocratic plantation owners of Mississippi and Arkansas used to stay, still has the fine old paintings on the walls and the large lobby retains its atmosphere of subdued grandeur.

Joe Curtis is still on the Commercial Appeal writing about his beloved Mississippi as he has for 50 years. He seems as eternal as the river, which just keeps rolling along. Sam Kahn and Ralph Millett, who were on the paper back in the days when your columnist was starting out as a reporter, are still there.

Also I had an enjoyable visit with Eldon Roark, columnist who specialty is writing about odd folks—(so, no doubt, he'll write about me); and Paul Flowers, columnist whose specialty is mellow sentimentality with a Dickensian flavor.

Will Rogers aid the movies are the only form of show business where an actor can sit down out in front and clap for himself.

And it was Will who spoke of the good old days, when you lived until you died and not until you were run over by a truck.

Newspapers have degenerated. They may now be absolutely relied upon.—Oscar Wilde.

American National Bank of Amarillo Aids Development

One of the financial institutions which deserves the wholehearted support of every resident of the Panhandle and surrounding territory is the American National Bank of Amarillo. This institution has for many years carried its share of the burden of building up Amarillo and the trade area which it serves. It is concerned of this kind that have aided in the development of this entire district that are wholly deserving of their own success. Mention should also be made of the fact that the American National Bank of Amarillo has lent its support to all civic projects and no effort has been spared by the bank and its officers to see that every single obligation of its civic duty has been discharged.

Naturally the success of this banking institution is due to the far-seeing policies of its management, and this management is deserving of commendation for those policies. All officers and directors under the able leadership of Mr. J. H. Paul, President, are natives of the Panhandle and are local citizens of faultless character and good judgment. They are conservative business men who have the best interest of the community at heart. Through their efforts and knowledge of banking this institution has gained its prominent position as a leading bank in the Panhandle.

We are glad to mention them in our review of prominent institutions. They thoroughly deserve the success which is theirs, and we heartily wish for them a continuance of that success.

Eads Hide & Wool Co. Asset to Area

While the death of livestock is an accident always to be regretted, an immediate removal should be accomplished at the earliest possible moment. No matter how far from town you may live, you need only to inform Eads Hide & Wool Company by calling Amarillo 2-6521, or for local residents the Griffin One Stop Truck Station 1188 in Canyon, and dismiss the matter from your mind. This firm has won the confidence and support of many farmers and stockmen throughout this section by the promptness exercised in the responding to calls, having not only the most modern large trucks for the removal of carcasses, but the most dependable.

There are at the present time only two safe ways of disposing of dead animals, namely cremating and rendering. Of the two, rendering is to be commended, for it is not only the most sanitary way of disposing of the carcass, but it is the best from a commercial standpoint, for modern firms line this one transport all dead animals and utilize every portion of the carcass.

The Eads Hide & Wool Company, also known as the Amarillo Rendering Company, pay all telephone charges and we urge all our readers that when in need of service of an efficient company of this kind they call Amarillo 2-6521 or the Griffin Truck Stop here in Canyon at 1188.

We commend this firm and its management for a fine record of service to our livestock men and trust they will continue to serve us in the future as they have in the past.

This has resulted in a steady increase of new homes, adding much to Amarillo and Panhandle's appearance and wealth.

Graham-Hoeme Plow Co. Has Envious Reputation

Amarillo has assumed its present position of prominence in the affairs of the country because of the splendid commercial enterprises which make their headquarters there. The Graham-Hoeme Plow Co., Inc. is one of those more substantial companies which has added very materially in the building of this community. This firm has been in business for some time, and over that period of time has made many thousands of friends in this section. The management of the Graham-Hoeme Plow Co., Inc. has built a business on a policy of strictest adherence to rigid business principles. The firm has placed more value on the friendship of its customers than on their money, and the result has been a feeling of confidence which the company carefully fosters.

Mr. W. T. Graham, Pres., is the man responsible for the fine reputation which the organization enjoys in this section. He is the man who takes his civic responsibilities in a very serious manner, and he may be depended upon to lend his time and energy to the support of any project which promises to benefit the community as a whole. We congratulate Mr. Graham and the Graham-Hoeme Plow Co. on their splendid reputation and hope that they will continue to succeed and to serve the people of this area as they have in the past.

Lydic Roofing Co. Worthy of Mention

We have all probably heard the story of a man who would not fix his roof when it rained because it was too wet, and who did not consider it necessary when it was not raining. Many of us laugh at that joke and continue to follow the same line of philosophy. Regardless of the particular kind of roof that is most desirable for your residence or other structure, the Lydic Roofing Company with offices at 401 No. Harrison in Amarillo, will tell you which is best. Moreover, Mr. Elmer Jobe, the manager, will see to it that only the best of materials will be used on the job, and he will also see that you get honest workmanship. If it is a need for insulation, asbestos sidewalls, or repairs, this firm is able to give expeditious and economical service.

To have gained the implicit confidence of the entire Panhandle as has the Lydic Roofing Company is indeed commendable. They are now in their 59th year of operation in the State of Texas. It is small wonder that this firm has been forced to work at top speed to keep up with their customer's demands.

Men and women property owners have learned to respect the services of this concern, for they know it is a form of economy and an insurance of satisfaction to deal with them.

A roofing company is one of the most needed types of business and it is a pleasure to mention the Lydic Roofing Company at 401 No. Harrison in Amarillo, in our review of Progress.

Herbert Drug Co. Is Leading Pharmacy

The relationship between the apothecary and the physician is very close. The people should have confidence in the doctor and the doctor must have confidence in the druggist, for he himself is unable without a chemical analysis to determine whether all the ingredients called for in his prescription are contained in the compound or if they are pure and fresh. Moreover the druggist, in many instances is the medium through which the physician gains certain of his knowledge.

While the drugs and prescriptions are the foundation of the Herbert Drug Co. in the Amarillo Bldg., like other, modern druggists of other cities, they have a large business in the better cosmetics, namely Marie Earle cosmetics of which they are exclusive distributors, toilet accessories, and sundry articles from which one may select necessities to fit any purse. The brands of the many articles they do carry are known the world over not for their high cost, but for their quality and popularity with the public.

Mr. J. H. Herbert, registered pharmacist and manager of the Herbert Drug Co. is the man to whom much of the success of the store is due since it is he who oversees the compounding of medicines and acts as buyer for the select drug items handled. With the past as a criterion and the future to anticipate we predict much success for Mr. Herbert and the Herbert Drug Co. in Amarillo.

Amarillo Packing Co. Is Aid to The Livestock Industry

One of the most important services of the Amarillo Packing Company is the market they offer to the livestock raisers of this and surrounding territory. Through the location of their plant in Amarillo, the small producer is able to market his livestock at prices from which no deduction is made for feed, yardage or commission as would be made if the stock were shipped to a distant packing plant.

Consumers also benefit from the plant being here as they receive meats in a fresher condition than if shipped in from a distant packing company. Their "Longhorn Brand" meat products meet with universal approval and are in great demand. In many cases they act as trade winners for the merchants selling them.

The Amarillo Packing Company slaughters hundreds of head of livestock for local consumption with the result that manufacturing costs that are largely made up of wages to employees are not distributed in some far off community but are kept in our own trade area.

Amarillo Packing Company has a host of friends throughout this and the surrounding section. Under the very capable management of Mr. E. J. Husband, the plant is well equipped and kept in a most sanitary condition. It is a pleasure for us to highlight the activities of this progressive meat packing house and to add our praise to that already heard.

Trains Are the Safest Manner of Transportation

At the last session of Congress, legislation was proposed which in effect, have given the government vague and sweeping authority over railroad practices and regulations that are involved with safety. Inasmuch as the safety factor enters directly or indirectly into every phase of railroad operation, this legislation, had it passed, would have provided power-hungry bureaucrats with a field day.

Fortunately, it didn't get anywhere, but such proposals have a habit of turning up again and again, like the proverbial bad penny. So it would be a good idea for the public to learn just how safe the railroads are.

Railroad safety was covered graphically by a Houston Press staff writer who had interviewed a railroad spokesman. He said: "You're safer in those plush super trains that whisk you across the country side at 90 miles an hour than you'd be with an inside straight at your club. . . . If your life depended solely upon your immunity from passenger train accidents—while you're a passenger—your life expectancy would be 20,000 years, or 20 times the age of Methusalem. . . ."

In 1948, the number of people killed in train accidents was the smallest for many of the 61 years for which the Interstate Commerce Commission has kept records. And 43 per cent of last year's fatalities were persons involved in highway crossing accidents, while 35 per cent of the deaths came to trespassers on railroad property.

No form of fast comfortable transportation ever devised is as safe as the railroads.

TCU Coach Spoke Quarterback Club Banquet Here

The head man of football for 1949 was the main speaker at the Canyon Quarterback Club Banquet held at the high school cafeteria Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. He was Leo R. "Dutch" Meyer, who is head coach at Texas Christian University and is also president of the National Football Coaches Association, the highest honor of the men of his profession.

The banquet honored West Texas State College and Canyon High School athletes.

Invocation was given by Rev. Win R. Matsler, and Chief Quarterback Hosea Foster welcomed members and guests. Master of ceremonies was Hatcher Brown. Entertaining the group was Bob and Pat Vandergiff who did a tap dance, the West Texas State Varsity Quartet, and impersonations were given by Dana Lee Rice.

After his address, Coach Meyer showed movies of the SMU-TCU game which was played last week and which TCU won 21-13.

Officers in the Quarterback Club are Hosea Foster, Bob Bellah, Dutch Cleavinger, Jack Taylor, Jack Jennings, and A. M. Warren.

There were two hundred and thirty-one present at the banquet.

Canyon Visitor Purchases Mack Painting Here

A recent visitor to Canyon purchased one of the paintings from the art exhibit of Alexander W. Mack, just closed at the Historical Museum. Miss Ocie Sanders purchased for her college hall in London, Kentucky, the landscape, "Kansas Fields."

Miss Sanders is president of Sue Bennett College, and a former member of the faculty of West Texas State College. She looked over the exhibit for a colorful picture and found it in the warm portrayal of autumn fields. Painted in the technique of many of the modern London painters, this work gains its brilliance through the juxtaposition of complementary colors.

Miss Sanders visited here through the Thanksgiving holidays on her way to the meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges at Houston.

LEGION TREES HERE

The American Legion Christmas Trees will be here Thursday, December 1 and will go on sale at the American Legion Hall. All proceeds from the sale of these trees will go to local charity. Trees are reported to be very nice this year.

INSTINCT

Losing her temper, the elderly teacher of a rural school spanked a disobedient pupil; and, in doing so, accidentally inflicted a scratch on his freckled face. That evening she telephoned the boy's father, a farmer, to apologize for her action. "Oh, that's all right," said the father good-naturedly. "Jimmy won't hold any grudge. He's lived on a farm long enough to know that old hens just can't help scratching."

POLITE

After the wedding ceremony the kindly old vicar eyed the shy bridegroom very kindly. "Well, my friend," he said, "here is your lawful wedded wife." The young man grew purple and shuffled his feet as he turned to his bride and mumbled: "Pleased to meet you."

Robert Fulton and Samuel F. B. Morse, two American inventors born within 10 years of 1800, helped finance themselves as young men through successful portrait painting.

Louis Johnson, Secretary of Defense: "At some future time, guided missiles may throw our up-to-date bombers of today into obsolescence."

Vladimir Clementis, Foreign minister of Czechoslovakia: "When a Soviet statement says something, it is true."

Paul Wagner, president, Rollins College: "The great failure of American education is the failure to educate for citizenship."

Electric Age Open Markets For Equipment

According to a recent survey, about 5,000,000 farms will be receiving electric service by the end of this year. And the value of the immediate market for electrical appliances among these farm families is estimated at $750,000,000.

The average farm family, the survey also found, wants to spend about $150 on power equipment. More than forty different types of electrical machinery are desired immediately, with home food freezers, electric water systems, and electric ranges leading in demand, followed by water heaters and refrigerators.

What this means is that agriculture represents a huge and expanding market for labor-saving conveniences of many kinds—including both those used in the home and those which contribute to the operation of the farm as a business.

Moreover, this potential market indicates the vast changes in rural living that rural electrification—pioneered and perfected by the private utility companies—has caused. The modern farm home can be as comfortable and as efficient as the modern urban home. By the touch of a button or the turn of a switch tasks can be accomplished—swiftly and cheaply—that once required back-breaking labor.

Within a relatively short time, almost every farm home in this country that wants central station electric service will have it available. The utility industry started several years ago on the greatest, most costly, and most intense rural electrification program in history. Significantly, it has been paid for with private funds, has not been subsidized by the taxpayers, and has created great new taxable assets for all forms of government. It is thus in direct contrast with all the schemes for socializing electric service at a cost of billions. And it is a typical American achievement.

Ranchers Resent Encroachment of Federal Agencies

An article in the November issue of Country Gentleman discusses the important question of "What's Ahead for Beef?" One of the most interesting parts of it is a quotation from a man who operates a highly successful Hereford ranch which was started with six animals many years ago. Asked for his views on governmental paternalism, he said: "I believe that more than any other group in agriculture the ranchman has been most concerned over recent trends that would give the government greater control and authority in the carrying on of our business. We who live on the range have its constant threat of drought, failing water supplies, predatory animals, disease and unpredictable market conditions know that the only real security a man can have is in his own self-reliance. Certainly there will be disasters, but none quite so great as that of letting Washington do our worrying for us. The only way to sound agriculture is for each of us to recognize our personal responsibility and to attain the stature that will permit us to discharge it satisfactorily to ourselves, our community and in the end our government. When farmers and ranchers expect the government to solve all their problems, the government will be running our business, the rest of us just hired hands."

Views like that are as refreshing as a summer breeze at a time when more and more people look to government for a dubious "security," not realizing that they are losing their liberties in the process. The great meat industry, all the way from the producers through the packers to the retailers, is one of the achievements of free enterprise—of individual self-reliance, not political paternalism. It must be kept that way—and so must all the other enterprises that represent collective strength of America.

You could stand in the open at one end of the north-south runway at the Washington National Airport . . . and have an atom bomb explode at the other end of the runway (1-4 miles away) without serious injury to you—Comdr. Eugene Tatom, USN, before House Armed Services Committee.

Among the many surpluses this country is accumulating is a growing number of half-educated youth, prepared neither for work nor personal living.—Malvina Lindsay, columnist, The Washington Post.

Canyon Boy Exhibits Prospect For Spring Show

Doyle Bourn, 1 1/2 miles west of Canyon, exhibits the Hereford steer calf he is feeding as a 4-H Club project. He will enter the animal, purchased from George Nance, next year in the annual livestock show sponsored by Randall County Junior Livestock Association. His 1949 grand champion, a 930-pound steer bought from W. D. Collier, sold at $64 a hundred. Doyle, also a Future Farmer of America, has three calves in the association's commercial calf-feeding program.

A commercial calf-feeding program is underway in Randall County to supplement the regular livestock show for 4-H Club boys and Future Farmers of America.

President Milton "Buff" Morris said the project is a part of the program of Randall County Junior Livestock Association, one of few organizations of its kind in the country.

"Feeding these calves will enable the boys to emphasize profit in their educational livestock program, as well as grooming cattle strictly for show purposes," Morris said. "A certain amount of showmanship is involved, but the emphasis is on commercial livestock production."

Livestock authorities of Texas A&M Extension Service, as well as other farm and ranch leaders, long have advocated commercial calf-feeding programs of this kind. Studies have been conducted of similar projects in Missouri and Kansas.

Morris said the local program will work this way:

Twelve boys who started feeding at the same time, are handling three calves each. Each drew one calf from three separate lots. They will enter the animals in a commercial show scheduled during the first week of June, 1950.

Awards, the incentive for doing a good job, will be as follows: Best pen of three, $15; second best pen of three, $10; third best pen of three, $7.50; each calf graded as choice, $10; good $7.50; medium, $5, and common, $2.50.

"With all boys starting at the same time, we feel nobody will have an unfair advantage," Mossis said. "Judging will be according to a score card. How well the calves look, their gain and the boy's knowledge of feeding, all will be considered."

Four-H Club boys participating in the program include Albert Fishbacker and Weldon, Norman Ray and Glenn Tuck, all under supervision of County Agent Harold Shahan.

Thomas L. Devin, instructor of vocational agriculture and sponsor of the Canyon High School Chapter Future Farmers of America, is supervising project for the following boys:

Clifford Burtz, Donald McDonald, Doyle Bourn, Stirling Cummings, Travis Payne, Jr., Tommy Gooch, Meade Michael, Marvin and Jimmy Cornette, Richmond Payne, Jimmy Montgomery and Jerry Inman.

Otis Parker, vice-president of the association, and Ross Craig, member of the organization assisted the commercial calf division committee in purchasing the calves at Amarillo and other places. Members of the committee are Roy N. Byrd Sr., Clyde McElroy and C. O. Elkins.

Morris, also a member of the department of agriculture, West Texas State College, commended Shahan and Devin for their assistance in helping launch the program.

He praised all members of the association for their cooperation with the executive committee. Members of the committee are Mutt Meyers, secretary, Glen Dowlen, W. T. Oliver and Parker.

Finances of the association are healthy, Morris said. Already there is sufficient money in the treasury to pay the freight on the 48 commercial calves to market.

The annual livestock show will be held as usual, Morris said. The commercial show will be an extra attraction. He said the association's membership goal is 400.

Willson Lecturer Talked at Rotary Luncheon Tuesday

Charles A. Wells

Dr. Charles Wells, Willson lecturer at West Texas State this week, was the speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday.

"Journalism and religion are closely affiliated," stated the speaker as he drew on his wide experience as a reporter and a lecturer. When men feel their own inadequacy they send for the minister. Most of the news of the daily press is made up of men's inadequacies.

"Men may dodge religion all of their lives, but they will come to a time when they need it," stated the speaker.

He learned early in life to ask "why" after reporting on the who, what, where, when of the newspaper code.

After spending a considerable length of time in Russia and observing Communism, the speaker is convinced that Communism steps in when men are desperate. He heard many Germans say: "It would be better if we had kept Adolph." No one ever submits to Communism. There is no invasion with guns and plane; it comes from desperation.

The speaker believes that our national approach to fundamental problems is inadequate. This is true in Washington; a strife between labor and capital.

"Nations are great only as they grow religiously." The church came with the plow, and the pastor with the woodsman. "We should refresh our minds of those things which make America great," stated the speaker as he proclaimed that it was not the economic and industrial strength of America, but the spiritual strength which was the foundation of a great nation.

Visitors were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Willson, Rev. and Mrs. R. N. Huckabee of Floydada; Mrs. Paul Rogers of Canyon; Roy Snodgrass of Hereford; Frank Loehr of Liberal, Kansas; Dr. Ira Wood of Littlefield; E. S. Van Nostrum, J. L. DR. ONAH JACKS GUEST SPEAKER SUE HITE CLUB

When the Sue Hite Club met on Monday, November 28, Dr. Onah Jacks was guest speaker for the club. The subject was "Backdrop to Living."

Dr. Jacks suggested that the "Backdrop to Living" must give something of feeling, must suggest action, provide for some adjustment. In arranging for a backdrop for living, one should study individuals living in home, consider action that takes place in the home; take into account of feeling. There must be a chance for individuals to develop, a place for recreation, a place provided for privacy, provide opportunity for creativeness, and provide for group activity. In conclusion Dr. Jacks stressed arranging a backdrop for action never as a substitute for action.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

Handling of Criminals Is a Public Trust, Not Personal

Lucky, double lucky is Paul Gaither, sheriff of Potter county.

The three criminals who escaped from the Potter county jail early Wednesday morning were all back in jail by Saturday afternoon. No one was killed, and not a shot fired!

Gaither is lucky in two ways: He is lucky that Texas does not have the referendum and recall of public officials; and he is lucky that the criminals were caught so quickly.

It seems that Gaither is not excusing his neglect of public duty in making a trusty of an indicted murderer who is held without bail. He justifies this action on the ground that so many prominent citizens asked him to be lenient toward the young man, a former popular Sandie football player. If the case is pushed into court, it will be of public interest to see just who these "prominent citizens" are who caused Gaither to go against his own judgment and give the run of the jail, day and night, to a man charged with murder.

After all is said, Gaither owes his job to the people. They elected him to the job. If he listened to his friends and gave freedom to a man who should never be trusted, these friends have a joint responsibility with the sheriff.

We all know how public sentiment runs. When a man is down, we all enjoy jumping on him; when he is up and coming, we like to give him a pat on the back and tell him what a swell guy he is. Perhaps Gaither listened to those who were patting him on the back when he should have been listening to those who were suspicious of criminals. We don't lock men in jail unless they are criminals and a menace to society. There is no justification for any sheriff to think he is above the law and that he is not required to respect the welfare of society as a whole, rather than the feeling of a few sloppy persons who think that no criminal is a criminal at heart.

The whole Southwest will be interested in the new developments of this case. While Potter county, the city of Amarillo and the State of Texas have spent thousands of dollars of public funds getting these criminals back into safety, the question at hand is not solved by any means.

Legislators Are Not For Sale Through Big Steak Dinners

Several members of the legislature are still very, very bitter about the defeat of their pet project to increase their pay, and hold annual sessions. The cry is that the lobbyists are responsible. Again the age old charge is made that big steak dinners given the lobbyists are responsible.

Now let's see: Who eats these big steaks? Admittedly it is members of the legislature. Then why complain at the lobbyists—if the legislators take advantage of their generosity—or attempts to bribe the legislators by steak dinners?

Frankly we do not believe that many members of the legislature are for sale for a steak dinner.

$1.00 Per Hour Is Now Goal

We are now notified that $1.00 per hour for each and every worker in America is the goal of those who pushed through the 75c law. It was assumed that 75c would be the limit when the bill was pending. Now it is revealed that this was merely a step in the progressive ladder. The trouble with a national wage scale is the fact that the cost of living in various parts of the nation are of such variance; and occupations are so different in the several states.

CIO After Congressmen

The CIO labor boss is in Texas, telling union leaders that half of the Texas delegation in Congress must be defeated in 1950. Those tabbed for defeat did not vote as CIO and the President dictated. We have an idea that "we, the people" will have something to say as to whom we shall elect to Congress in 1950.

Save Youth Through Schools

Fifty percent of the boys and girls are not in the churches, yet too many folks think that the church is falling down on its job of saving the youth of the world. There are 32 million attending the public schools, but only about 15 percent of scholastic age are attending Sunday School. Time for changing this percentage.

Crime, Liquor and Education

America is spending 15 billions annually for crime and nine billions annually for liquor. To offset this tragic loss we are spending three billions for education. Yet the people holler their heads off about the terrible cost of public education.

The President can win in 1952 in spite of opposition from the South. The combination of Negro, laborites, farmers, and the gimme-boys of the North can whip any combination which is put up against Truman. 1952 may seem to be a long, long distance away, but just consider how rapidly these years are flying past!

Classified advertising can serve every family that reads the Canyon News. Try one and get what you want, sell what you don't want, or make a swap. It's a cinch!

Wealth will take care of itself; what this country needs is somebody to see that the average man and woman gets a break in the battle of life.

Politics color almost everything that one reads these days. It won't be long before the nation will be in the midst of another congressional campaign.

If you are among those who have often read these paragraphs, we might say it is all right with us if you take a post card and send us some advice.

The individual who is willing to learn from experience can become better educated than the collegian who has a few degrees for hard work on his books.

If all the arguments, debates and set speeches in the world were put in a pile and burned, there would be much blaze but very little loss.

The business man who tries something and fails and then gets busy for another trial will some day make the grade.

Water From Canadian River Project Is Vital Importance

There have been some pretty tough spoken words against the antics of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram in their attitude toward the Canadian River Dam project. It would seem that the Chamber has developed a scheme to tie a tail on the kite of the Canadian River project which will sink the whole water situation.

No one doubts the wisdom of water conservation, as well as soil conservation from the standpoint of future development. Pampa, Borger, Amarillo, Lubbock and many other towns on the Plains, including Canyon, must have more water, or cease to grow and develop.

Millions of dollars of damage is done annually in Oklahoma, Arkansas and Mississippi because the flood water of the Canadian River are not stopped at the source. These waters are waste, purely destructive so far as the soils of these states are concerned. But this water will be a great blessing if converted to useful activity in the towns of the Plains.

Since the people of the upper Panhandle saw the picture they went after the project, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce took in trying to defeat the college building constitutional amendment simply because it could not dictate the terms of the amendment.

Since all West Texas supports the Chamber, and since the whole Panhandle must grow, or dry up, why should this so called progressive group decided that it will blast the Canadian River dam if it cannot get its way and build a whole series of dams running into billions of dollars. A small loaf at a time is better than no loaf at all.

Farmers and Unions Expected To Support Truman in 1952

President Truman will depend upon two reliable sources of support in his 1952 campaign for re-election—the unions and farmers.

Do one denies the fact that both factions have profited through the long Democratic administration. Ask any farmer or laboring man what he thinks of Truman. Chances are he is an ardent supporter of the administration.

The unions finally got around to the point where they are willing to admit that the farmers must have a fair return on their products, or the union man will have no market for his product. At the same time, the farmer knows that high prices for his product depends upon the ability of the laboring man to buy his beef and vegetables and wheat at a high price.

They are now saying in Washington that the Republican party is at an end; that it is washed up and completely discredited for its do nothing policy.

It would be a sorry day for America should this ever become a one-party nation. That is the stuff of which dictators are made.

Value of the Child Is Not Today But In His Future

We heard a speaker the other night talk on educational profit and loss. We wish that every taxpayer in America could hear this message. The need for better understanding of the problems of youth is most appealing to those who listen understandingly.

In the final analysis, the speaker advised that "You should go home and study the picture of your community."

Each community has a different picture. The value of each child is not what he is today, but what he may become in the future.

Dictator Peron Suppresses News

The newspapers of Argentina are under the strict supervision of the dictator Peron. This is just another link in the chain of events which take place wherever a dictator takes over any country.

Suppression of the news is the only way that dictators may long survive, when the people do not know the truth, how can they be expected to act wisely—or even act at all.

Pay Your Poll Tax—Or Not Vote

Don't overlook paying your poll tax. You will certainly want a part in the selection of public officials for Randall county and for the State of Texas in the elections of 1950. You cannot vote unless you are armed with a poll tax receipt.

In spite of all the commotion in Ohio over Senator Taft, the labor-farmer vote seem to fear running out a candidate against him; that is a candidate which might appeal to the voters. Nothing succeeds like success, and Taft has been a successful Senator.

If every citizen of Canyon would make it a habit to pay his bills on the first of each month, it would do a lot to help Randall county merchants keep a good stock.

After carefully perusing the writings of a number of political prognosticators, we have come to the conclusion that most of them write what they agitate rather than what is happening.

Advertising is known by the company it keeps. Your business message in The Canyon News is welcomed by the best families in Randall County.

Advice: Anyone who is lavish with the compliments will get along in this life. People absorb flattery like kittens lap up cream.

Advertising is the primer at the pump of business—if you use your head, you will know how the pump works.

Correct this sentence: "For some reason, which I cannot understand, I am behind with my work this week."

People who live in a nice town, like Canyon, ought to appreciate the opportunity.

The high cost of living so-called is not as important as the high cost of bankrupting the Government.

Most of us can always find an excellent reason for doing what we want to do when we want to do it.

SHORT-LIVED SUCCESS

A patient young shoe salesman went to considerable trouble to satisfy the whims of an attractive woman customer. He continued to smile pleasantly as she slipped her feet into one pair of shoes after another. For the umpteenth time she arose and paraded back and forth, surveying one foot and then the other.

"They fit perfectly!" she admitted at long last.

The young man beamed, congratulating himself on a job well done. But his joy was short-lived, for the customer asked brightly: "Haven't you got a smaller size that fits as well?"

DOUBLE TROUBLE

"My Bevins, you must by all means avoid excitement," the doctor warned. "And you must cut out beer and whiskey. Drink nothing but water."

"Oh, I can't do that, doctor," Bevins moaned.

"And why not?" the doctor demanded.

"Because," wailed the unhappy patient, "the idea of drinking water excites me more than anything else."

all persons can use in their own protection." Cox indicated that the health department information campaign would be a year to year project from now on, with a different phase of public health being the subject each year.

Highlights of this year's drive will be a state-wide radio address by Governor Shivers, and a short motion picture trailer featuring the Governor and the State Health Officer. Information packets have been prepared for distribution throughout the State by city and county health units.

The official proclamation reads: "One of the most important factors that will influence the future of Texas is a healthy citizenship. Public health has many phases, all contributing to the welfare of mankind."

"One of these is the campaign to eliminate the venereal diseases. Methods of diagnosis and treatment are at hand to prevent the unnecessary suffering caused by these diseases. All that remains now is to induce our citizenship to take advantage of the present day knowledge."

"In recognition of these facts and the vital importance of health in our everyday life, I, Governor of the State of Texas, designate the week of December 4-11 as Better Health for Texas Week."

Principal appeal of the campaign is directed to leaders of individual communities. Dr. Cox believes that the "final solution to the venereal disease problem will be forthcoming only when it is tackled on a community basis."

TEMPUS FUGIT

Time flies! It is time for the students of C.H.S. to wake up and realize that the first semester is two thirds over already. By the way, two-thirds of semester grades have been made, too. One six weeks period is left in which to bring grades up (or down).

"Just think, the first part of this school year is gone forever, never to return. Oh, Sob, Gosh, Gosh, the blistful, golden moments. On wings they fly, forsaking us, robbing us of our youth, the springtime of our lives." Such wallings are commonly heard from the seniors each day while the lower classmen grow increasingly cheerful as the year wears on.

Whatever the reaction to the passage of time, it is up to each individual to make the most of each day, developing his own personality and character.

FHA Entertains FFA With An Old Fashioned Barn Dance

Do-si-do and here we go! Swing your partner and promenade!

This is what the FFA boys will be hearing Friday night, December 2, at the Barn Dance which is being sponsored by the FFA girls. Calico dresses for the girls and levis for the boys will be the official garb.

This Barn Dance was planned in FFA meeting last Monday after other suggestions, a costume party and a combined hayride and Weiner roast, had been mentioned. Various committees appointed by Merle Bullard, president, for the Barn Dance are: Teacher, refreshment, game, decorating and clean-up. Another committee appointed for the welfare of the FFA was a budget committee. Degrees of Achievement explained by Donna Erwin, and discussion of point system, and an announcement by Merle that each committee should have a report by next meeting took up the remainder of the meeting which was adjourned shortly.

Seniors Wear Broad Smiles As 1949-50 Rings Are Worn

Hooray! Today's the day! That is what the seniors were shouting last Wednesday when news of the arrival of the senior rings was received. Seniors are wearing broad smiles as they wear those flashy-flashy glittering bands. They have longed for just this opportunity for these four years.

The rings are 10 karat gold, with oval shaped crests, some have red or black sets, and each bears the initials C.H.S. Below these letters is written the class motto, "Labor Omnia Vincit" or "Labor conquers all." The shanks of the ring bear the emblem of the school, the eagle, and the date 1950.

The cost of the girl's rings average $14.90 without sets to $18.24 with sets. Boys ring prices range from $18.90 without sets to $22.95 with sets.

Superintendent E. A. Wooten and Principal J. E. Miller attended the State Teachers Association at Fort Worth, last weekend. Payne Achieves Vice-Presidency

Bruce Winn and Leo Erwin, both seniors, tied in the election for the presidency of the student Faculty Congress, held last Tuesday. Richmond Payne won the election of vice-president over his opponent, Billy Morton. Both candidates for the vice-presidency are juniors.

Richmond's previously attained honors are: freshman class favorite; vice-president of sophomore class; he is now parliamentarian of the junior class. He has lettered two years in football, and one year in track.

A run-off election between Leo and Bruce was held Tuesday, following campaign speeches by their campaign managers in the assembly program, after this paper went to press. The result of the election will appear in next week's "Eagle's Tale."

Raymon Will Give Assembly, Friday

To promote a better understanding of the reptiles of North America is the goal of Jack Raymon, Public Relations Specialist. Associated with summer camps, he is a member of the American Red Cross Life Saving Corps, the New York Zoological Society, and other similar organizations.

Jack Ramon will present an assembly program Friday about the reptiles of North America. During the program a great deal of information about reptile life will be presented; first aid will be demonstrated, and live specimens exhibited. The high spot of the assembly will be the showing of an Indigo snake from Florida.

As a member of these scientific organizations, he has done much to break down the fear and misunderstanding of that most dreaded member of our animal life, the snake.

Jack Ramon owns and directs the Kentucky Reptile Garden which is located in the Mammoth Cave Area and is one of the featured attractions of Kentucky.

Turkey Loses Leg, Seeks His Revenge

"Help! He's gaining on me! Oh, please Mr. Turkey—spare me. Spare me, and I promise I'll never, never do it again!" Sounds rather confusing, doesn't it? Just to help you grasp this hectic situation, let me take you back one drum-stick and a wish-bone ago.

It is Thanksgiving Day and you have just sat down to dinner, a dinner fit for a king with, of course, the traditional turkey roasted to the peak of perfection. Grace has just been said, and immediately thereafter you reach for one of the huge drum-sticks. As you tear it from its life long master, you think you hear something that sounds very much like a moan coming from the neck of the great bird. Now just a minute! How silly can a person get anyway? Whoever heard of a roasted turkey making a noise? Well, now that we've got that settled—where was I? Oh, yes, as I was saying, you have the drum stick and by this time, have devoured it completely and begun on another piece. After spending not less than thirty minutes stuffing everything from cranberry sauce to pumpkin pie into your little old tummy until it looks like a dirigible, you manage to waddle upstairs to let the bed carry your burden. Somehow you just can't seem to forget that moan—at least it sounded like a moan.

Now of course you know that you couldn't really have heard it, or could you? Anyway, you're exhausted from eating and no sooner have you jarred the bed off its rollers with a thud that made the penny in your piggy bank turn over, than you are off to the land of nightmares.

You're nonchalantly strolling along nightmare alley when suddenly from out of the shadows leaps a figure arrayed in feathers that looks almost like a—why it is, a turkey! Much to your astonishment you notice that this turkey has a wooden leg! Then it all comes back to you—the drum-stick and the moan—ah yes, the moan. Mr. Turkey stands there glaring at you for a minute and then calmly kneels down and starts to take a bite right out of your bowed legs. With a scream you take off like a race horse that has been drinking vodka. A quick glance over your shoulder reveals that old peg-leg is in hot pursuit.

—(And that my friends, is where you came in). The race is on and—yipes! You'd better hurry. Mr. Gobble Mouth is gaining on you, when all of a sudden—plop! and much to your relief you find yourself sprawled out on your bedroom floor. Whew! What an experience, you say, as you look under the bed just to make sure that you were dreaming. You can bet your bottom dollar that's the last time I'll ever eat turkey, until next Thanksgiving, that is.

Walter Reuther, not Philip Murray or John Lewis, is emerging as the labor leader who got most for his union members at the least cost in strikes. Philip Murray, after a costly strike in steel, got no more for his Steelworkers than Mr. Reuther got for his Auto Workers without a strike. John L. Lewis still hasn't anything to show for his 1949 efforts.

Students Present Holiday Program

Thanksgiving was observed at C.H.S. with an assembly program. Miss Loyce Elliott, director, presented the following numbers:

"I Got Plenty of Nothing" by Bruce Winn, Clyde and Norris Root, and Glenn Prater, and "Take a Tater and Wait" with Bruce Winn doing the solo part; "Handsome Soldier" by Glenn Prater and Anita Ruthardt, accompanied by a chorus of high school girls; "In a Little Dutch Kindergarten" by Patsy Vandergriff, Ann Holt, Shirley Peppard, Lila Mae Hunter, Sandra Curtis, Dorothy Neblett, Nora Dell Ruthardt and Barbara Winters;

"Gossip" a musical reading, by Dorothy Neblett; "Thanks Be to God," a solo by Mary Mae Peppard; "The Things We Americans Have to Be Thankful For" were listed by Betty Slagle who also gave the devotional; "My Sugar Is So Refined" a solo by Donald McDonald "Stand-in" In the Need of Prayer" and "Holy, Holy, Holy" by the C.H.S. choir;

"The Bells of St. Mary's" by the double quartet, Ann and Virginia Holt, Nancy Bolton, Shirley Peppard, Joan Mickey, Jane Rose, Barbara Winters, and Jean Stone; and "Indian Love Call," sung by Mary Ann Sloan in costume before an Indian teepee. The stage was spotlighted during this number with blue and red lights.

"Public performance is as much of one's education as book learning. We feel great pride in the efficient response that our students make now when they are asked to present assembly programs," adds J. E. Miller, principal.

Albert's Alley

Do you think the older generation expects too much of the younger generation?

Miss Bettie Sue Hardaway: Of course it depends on where you draw the line between the younger and older generation. I don't think they do, in a way some should expect a little more than they do, because through high standards, one can gain much.

Donna Erwin: I don't think they do, but don't ask me because I am no authority of such problems.

Ava Dooley: In some cases I do not believe they expect enough.

Bettie McGeehee: Judging from my parents, they don't expect too much.

Shayne Gunter: Yep, they think we should be just like them, and that's next to impossible.

Bill Hall: I won't commit myself. In fact I'll just stay neutral in the matter.

Tommy Myers: Uh, Huh, too much work, not enough pay!

David Branden: Yes Sir, all I ever get to do is do lessons and the sort.

Carl Crow: I don't know. In some cases they do, but not in most. My folks are very considerate.

Stanley Lair: All work and no play makes Stan a dull boy. I guess that's why I am so sharp. That's a joke son!

Sue Jennings: Definitely not, because if you do not have high standards you will not get any place.

Betty Ross Craig: No, I don't think they do, but of course there are exceptions to all rules.

Martha Hales: Well... No I don't, they sometimes don't expect enough. Sometimes they don't think young people are capable of doing some things when they really are.

Wayne Prichard: No not particularly. They do in some cases, but times have changed since they were young. We can do things a lot easier and quicker than they could. We are now living in a scientific world where things are done the easy way.

Bobby Gene Ford—Might be in college, might be selling popcorn at the Olympic, might be married. (There's always a might.)

Wayne Prichard—Sleeping, I hope.

Jerry Harding—Just loafing.

Lorayne Carter—Worrying about getting out of school.

Jack Barnette—hmmmm would n't you like to know? (So would I).

Eagles and Guests Will Banquet And Crown Queen of the Team

Quarterback Club Honors Eagles

Backing the Eagles to the last stand of the season, is the Canyon Quarterback Club. They even banqueted the 'A' squad and the Buffs last Tuesday night in the High School Cafeteria on chicken and dressing.

The club, composed of business men of the town and patrons and friends of the school, met every Tuesday evening during the season. For programs, they usually had a guest speaker or showed moving pictures of previous games to the squads, whereby they could see mistakes and correct them.

According to Coach Scott the successful season of the Eagles is largely due to their support.

"We wish to express our thanks for the encouragement given us during the season. Any squad will work harder if it knows the people of the town are behind it," declares Coach Scott.

Society Sue

Geneva Gressett has a bright lime green sweater which she wears with a brown nylon skirt. This seems to be just the right combination. Chic, I'd say!

Betty McGeehee looks darling in her yellow angora sweater. It goes very well with her pale blue and yellow plaid skirt.

Speaking of sweaters, Mrs. Inell Lowe has a tan tweed one sprinkled with red and blue dots. Rather eye-catching.

Dana Lee Rice's blue-grey taffeta dress sets off her fair complexion. A red dress, worn with a black tie, looks perfectly stunning on Mrs. Ed Weeks.

Carol Howard sports a brown, red and blue and grey plaid skirt. Striking is the word for James Cundiff's brown and yellow shirt.

Mr. Barnett looks "mighty cute" in his dark yellow shirt. His specialty is good looking ties.

So called "closet dramas" are those designed to be read, but not acted.

Jarnagin and Miller Are Speakers For Occasion

The 1949-50 football squad will hold its banquet December 3. Members of the A and B squads, girls who have special invitations, and the parents of the squad members will be present.

The cheer leaders and boys and girls whom they invite will be honorary guests. The speaker of the evening will be Clark Jarnagin, manager of the College Bookstore and a former line coach of West Texas State Buffaloes, and W. A. "Gus" Miller, director of athletics and basketball coach at West Texas State College.

Queen Ruby Lee Bonds will be crowned in the coronation ceremony at the banquet. She will be attended by Jo Parker Joanna Haines and Anita Ruthardt.

The co-captains, Joe Abbott and Leo Erwin, the queen, her attendants, and their escorts, will be seated at one table. After the invocation Lloyd Johnson will announce her majesty and attendants, and they will be escorted to the head table where the queen, Ruby Lee, will be crowned by the co-captains and will be escorted back to her table.

The toastmaster will then proceed with the remainder of the program.

Loud-Speaker Chimes

"Come on, see our Santa Claus Parade."

This was the call of the Plainview Boosters, Wednesday afternoon, in front of the Grade School Building. The parade is to be held November 30.

Whistles, balloons, pencils, and spinning tops were given to the Canyon Grade School pupils by the children of Plainview. They sang "Home On the Range" and "Jingle Bells" with instrumental accompaniments.

"The Canyon Grade School pupils thoroughly enjoyed the presentation from the Boosters" says Miss Elva Fronabarger, principal.

Rehearsals Are Continuing For Choir Concert

Regular rehearsals for the community chorus will be resumed Thursday, December 1, at the Baptist Church at 7:30 o'clock. Everyone who is going to sing should be there for a group picture which will be taken in robes.

As in former years, most of the numbers which the chorus will present are carols from foreign lands, popular there, but as yet little known in this country. Mexico, France, Hungary, Russia, the Ukraine and England will be represented. The Mexican carol "The Shepherds and the Inn" is a dialogue between the shepherds and the innkeeper about the Christ Child. The French "Carol of the Birds" is a pretty fantasy that the birds tell the Christmas story. The Hungarians picture a "Christ in the Snow" as do the Russians. And the Ukrainians celebrate Christmas with a "Carol of the Bells." These carols have all the simplicity and power which we associate with folk music everywhere, and are easily added to the carols which we have known so well.

In addition to the carols the chorus will sing several Christmas anthems. The first is "Nazareth" by the famous French composer Charles Gounod. Another is the "Infant Jesus" by the Italian Pietro Yon, a descendant written above the very familiar "O Come Let Us Adore Him." The chorus will also sing "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," by John Sebastian Bach and finally will do "The Shepherd's Story" by the contemporary composer Clarence Dickinson.

Bufs Whipped N. M. Final Game

Functioning with the precision and intricacies of a telephone dial, The West Texas State Buffaloes turned Zimmerman Field, nestled at the foot of the Great Sandias, into a touchdown quagmire as they put the finishing touches on the 1949 football season with a 41-13 defeat of the University of New Mexico Lobos before 8,000 fans, Saturday afternoon.

Gene Mayfield acted in the role of "trigger man" as the Buffaloes moved along the ground and through the air with force that had the Hilltoppers gasping for breath before the half ended.

Mayfield's passing topped by the spectacular catches and crushing ground attack led by Charlie "Wire" Wright and Bill Cross, notched a 27-to-0 half time score.

Coach Burl Huffman's Lobos were all but out of the game after the first quarter but they did muster enough of a passing attack to crack the Buffaloes restraining line twice. They tallied once in the third and once in the fourth periods.

The Buffaloes victory not only ended the season but ended the collegiate eligibility of eight Buffalo and 10 U.N.M. Seniors. Pete Bromley, Johnny Cardinal, Vic and Doc Bates, Charles Kitchens, Weldon Trice, Junior Melton and Wayne Hill were all playing their last game for the Bison.

West Texas won the toss and received. An exchange of punts by Jerry McKown and Frank Wise gave the Bisons the ball on their own 35. On the first play of that series, Roy Dunn, of Borger, took the ball on the end-around and passed to Eddie Conner, the Floydada flash. Conner caught the ball on the Lobo 26. He had to dive for the ball to stage the spectacular catch. Mayfield then passed to Dunn on the 13 and Wire Wright took a handoff and raced 13 yards over his own left tackle for the Buffs first score. Junior Melton kicked the first of five successful attempts from placement.

Wright worked the left guard and tackle positions to death from then on. Midway in the second quarter, the rangy half-back burrowed 43 yards to score after Ernest Kendrick had intercepted a Hilltopper pass on the New Mexico 43-yard line.

A scant two minutes later they tallied again after marching 72 yards. Wright started the drive by bawling 24 yards over the perennial left tackle slot. Mayfield passed to Kitchens on the New Mexico 47 and Conner carried to the 40 after almost fumbling the ball. Mayfield then pitched to Dunn on the 25, and repeated by hitting Joe Ogden in the end zone. Ogden had to stop and turn around to catch the ball for fear of running out of the end-zone.

It took them exactly four plays to score again when they took over the ball. Wright made a yard to the N.M. 33. Mayfield passed to Dunn on the 17. Another went incomplete. Then the Buff rifleman popped one in the arms of Bill Cross who was standing in the end-zone as time in the half ran out. Melton again converted and the Buffs led the field at half-time leading 27-0.

Because of the holidays, New Mexico was unable to furnish half-time entertainment so the task fell solely upon the Buffalo band. They displayed their usual effective half-

As the third quarter got underway, John Poindexter kicked off to Chuck Hill, who returned to the New Mexico 23-yard line. Jack Weldon, of Plainview, tried left tackle for no gain, tried again and fumbled. Clint Williams recovered for the Buffs on the New Mexico 23.

Wright pined the center to the 19 and Cross took a pitchout from Mayfield and literally streaked over for the touchdown. Melton converted and the Buffs led 34 to 0.

Late in the third period the Lobos got their offense to clicking and marched 67 yards for their first touchdown.

The Buffs took the kickoff with E. C. Seifert, Jr., gathering the ball in on his own 10 and racing it back to the 18. Jimmy Draper pined through center to the 25 and Seifert went to the 30. On the following play, Seifert broke over right tackle and scooted 66 yards to the New Mexico four-yard line before he was pulled down from behind. Draper hit center for the four yards and the Buffaloes sixth touchdown.

The Lobos started on their final touchdown drive after Frank Wise who had been kicking like a "Long Tom" all afternoon, got a bad boot off the side of his foot and went out on the New Mexico 29.

The Buffs took the kickoff and were only one yard away from another touchdown when the gun sounded ending the game. They started on the 39. Wayne Sullivan carried to the 44, and Tommy Airhart streaked wide around right end and went all the way to the Lobo five before he was tagged. Airhart again cracked the line and was pulled down on the one as the game ended.

Approximately 200 students and fans from Canyon were in the stands Saturday afternoon.

Six Amarillo boys, and nine men from Panhandle cities played on the Lobo squad Saturday.

It was the eighth loss of the season for New Mexico as compared with two wins.

The Buffs finished the season which started slow with four straight early defeats, sporting a five win and four loss overage.

Now to basketball, which starts Friday when the West Texas Cagers meet the McMurry College Indians in Burton Gym.

Loopholes in Texas Criminal Laws Are Pointed by Attorney

By Will Wilson
District Attorney, Dallas, Texas

Mr. Homeowner went out for a short while, neglecting to close the front door of his private residence. The entrance was completely open, the door not having a screen, and during Mr. Homeowner's absence Lightfingered Harry came in and started picking up articles that suited his fancy.

Just as Harry had his arms pretty well loaded, he heard a noise behind him. He whirled around to see Mr. Homeowner standing in front of him. Harry dodged past the owner of the house, ran out the front door, which was still open, and disappeared with a number of Mr. Homeowner's valuables still in his possession.

Harry was captured and prosecuted for burglary. Mr. Homeowner testified convincingly against him and he was convicted.

The verdict was reversed by the appellate court. This court held the defendant could not be guilty of burglary because he had walked right into the house through the open door without any use of force and had left the same way, again without using force. The court ruling held that force must be used either in entering or leaving premises before the crime of burglary can be committed.

The State Bar of Texas is endeavoring to close such legal loopholes as this. This statewide organization of attorneys is working to bring this about through a revision of Texas' outmoded criminal statutes.

Mr. Truman is more convinced than ever that he can work the Roosevelt formula in 1950 and 1952, holding together a combination of labor and farm votes to assure political victory. Farmers are in a position to get almost anything they want to insist upon from a Democratic Congress.

How much is religious freedom worth?

Ask the Pilgrims, who braved the ocean and the wilderness and death to secure it.

Ask the people of the thirteen original states who refused to ratify the Constitution until it was guaranteed in an added Bill of Rights.

Ask the soldiers who fought in both World Wars that it might be established everywhere as one of four freedoms essential to man.

Ask the framers of the United Nations Charter who placed it high in the Declaration of Human Rights.

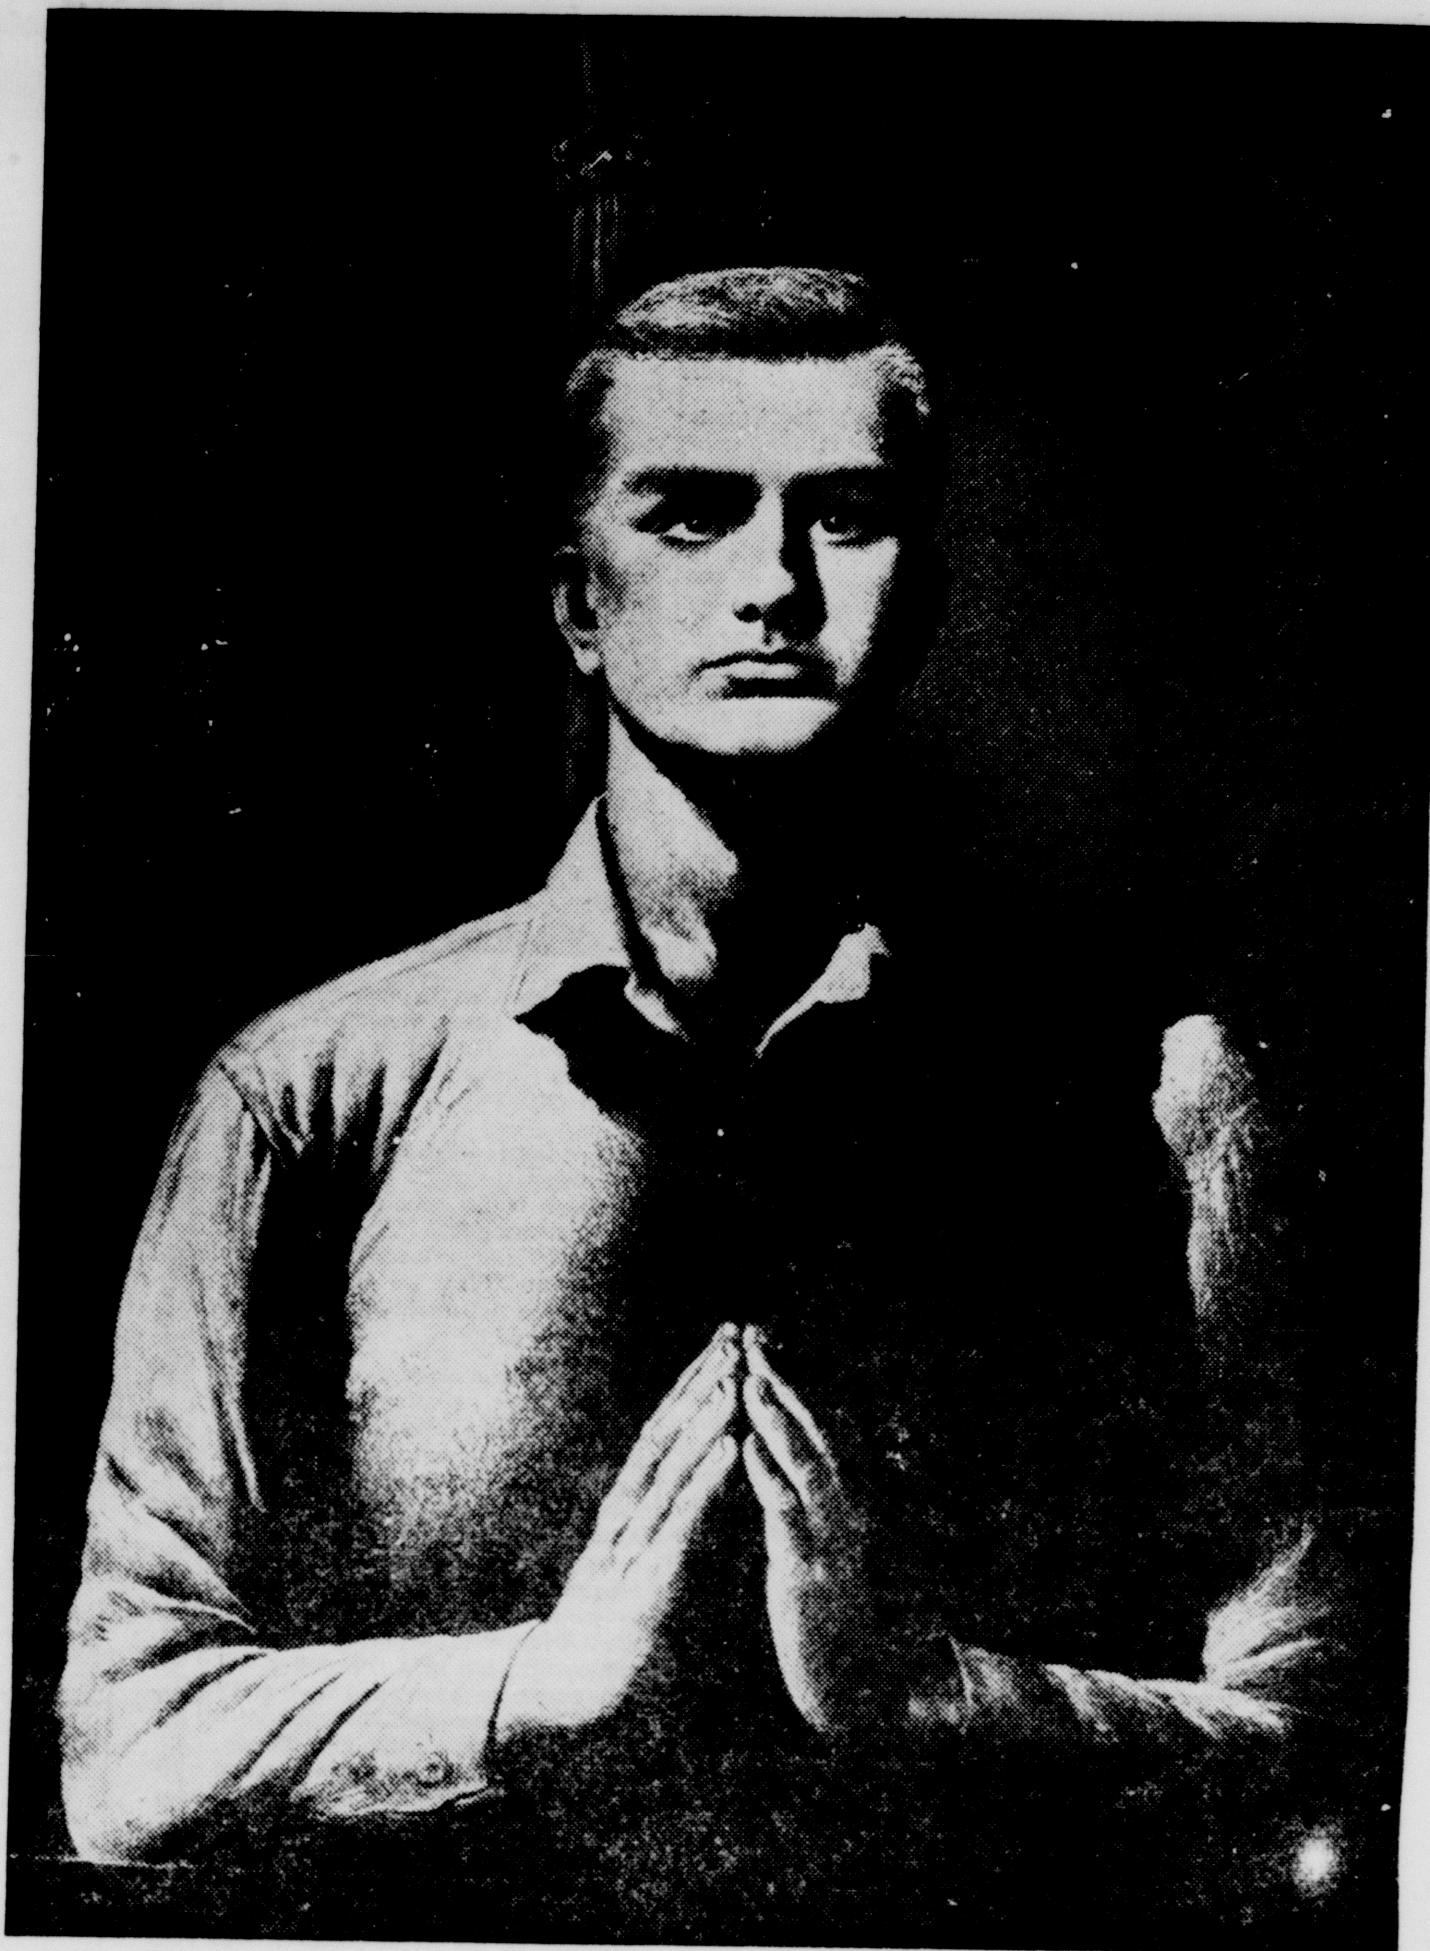

Ask the millions of people in other lands who even now struggle and suffer to wrest it from their rulers.

Then ask yourself.

Is religious freedom worth enough to you so that you guard it by using it?

Are you among the Americans who worship regularly . . . each in his own church and according to his own conscience . . . yet all united by a common faith in the brotherhood of man under the Fatherhood of God?

Much depends upon your answer, for in this common faith our nation was founded and upon it all our freedoms rest. If enough of us should let it rust away, all that we mean by America would crumble with it.

*Find yourself through faith—
come to church this week*

Dale Carnegie: "I spent several years writing a book on How to Stop Worrying and Start Living. After years of research, I am convinced that the best possible method for conquering worry is prayer and religious faith."

Taft Seems To Be GOP Hopeful For 1952 Fracas

The next Presidential election is a long way off, but the politicians of both parties are busy building their fences and cultivating their fields. The national, state and local organizations are doing the usual groundwork—and, incidentally, finding the usual difficulties in raising as much money as they think they should have.

Some men high in Republican circles think that their party must make a come back next time if it is to survive as one of the two major political forces. So far, the GOP hasn't had much to cheer about. The New York Senatorial election is in point. The Republicans put their best foot forward in John Foster Dulles, who is a world statesman of a very high order. The party, including Governor Dewey, went all out in the effort to elect him. The Democrats also had a very strong candidate in Herbert Lehman, who had made a fine record as governor. Mr. Lehman endorsed the Truman program—with one or two exceptions, such as the Brannan farm plan—and won. It was a severe setback for the Republicans.

Even so, the Republicans did make a good showing. Mr. Dulles is nowhere near as well known to the rank and file of voters as Mr. Lehman. Yet the latter's majority was less than 200,000, in an election in which a very large vote was cast.

The biggest test, it is generally felt, will come in Ohio next year, when Senator Taft must run again for his seat. Mr. Taft wishes to be the 1952 Presidential candidate. He is the outstanding Republican now in Congress, and has the strongest influence in guiding party policies and tactics. His differences with the opposition are clear-cut. He is passionately opposed to the welfare state, and to the Truman program in general. He is, therefore, one of the few top Republicans who could run against Mr. Truman, or any other Democrat holding Truman views, with a positive program of his own. He would not adopt the "me too" attitude which brought so much criticism on Governor Dewey last time.

There is a revival of speculation concerning General Eisenhower as the GOP candidate. It is said he has wearied of his work at Columbia, and has developed a new interest in public service. His vast prestige and public following would make him almost as formidable a candidate as can be imagined.

A tough Republican problem is how to offset Democratic strength in the great centers of population. In the New York race, for instance, Mr. Lehman carried only five counties, and four of these were in New York City. Mr. Dulles carried the rest. But the big majority Mr. Lehman piled up in the city did the job.

Tennis was purely an amateur sport until 1926.

Saving Land For Future Is Object of Conservation

Farmers either must conserve the soil or face government regulation, in the view of Kent Leavitt, president of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts. More than 50,000 acres of land are lost in this country each year by erosion and waste, and we thus face the problem of an ever increasing population coupled with a diminishing amount of land.

Mr. Leavitt, in a speech at Portland, Oregon, offered three remedies. "First," he said, "farmers must change their thinking about the ownership of land. We should consider ourselves as trustees for future generations."

"Second, we must continue to develop the proper science of land use."

"Third, we must get the proper land use applied to every land-acre in America without changing the form of government."

Mr. Leavitt has a strong point—its essence is that unless we, as a nation, voluntarily take care of the land which sustains us, the politicians will force Federal control down our throats. That has happened in England, where the Labor government has dictatorial authority over agriculture in all its phases. It would be the height of folly to say that it could not happen here. We have already had a taste of the Tennessee Valley Authority area, where a single Federal agency holds the reins, and agriculture and industry go in the direction they are driven. The proposed Columbia Valley Administration, and similar authorities, would firmly establish Federal domination of land, water, electric power and other such basic resources. There can be no doubt that the higher planners are using land reclamation, soil conservation, and flood control as an alluring bait in the drive to socialize the electric industry and to regiment the energies of the country.

The Soil Conservation Districts are one of the best ways of dealing with the situation. They are grass roots organizations, made up of local people, and they are locally controlled. They are not subsidized from the public treasury. Their connection with the Federal Government is limited to the technical assistance of the Soil Conservation Service and other agencies. They are geared to handle conservation on a local, a state, or a regional level. One of the most encouraging signs of the time is that they have grown in both number and influence at a remarkably swift pace. They prove that we, as a free people, can work together voluntarily to solve our problems.

SMART

The class was having a general knowledge lesson. The master turned to Jenkins, noted for the ease with which he wriggled out of tight corners.

"What is ratio?"

"Ratio," replied Jenkins "is proportion."

"But what is proportion?"

"Why sir proportion is ratio."

"Well, what are ratio and proportion?"

"I can only answer one question at a time, sir," replied Jenkins, with solid dignity.

Leon Keyserling, Acting Chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, is to direct preparation of Mr. Truman's next economic report. His chance to become No. 1 economic adviser to the White House, in title as well as in fact, is improved as a result of the recent elections. Mr. Truman is even more interested in a New Deal slant on economic issues.

The President is a bit intrigued by the fact that Colorado now is to supply two Cabinet members in Charles Brannan, Secretary of Agriculture, and Oscar Chapman, coming Secretary of the Interior, while New York hasn't a Cabinet post for the first time in years. The late President Roosevelt always went strong on New Yorkers in appointments to big jobs.

Democratic leaders in Congress don't want to be too successful in pushing Mr. Truman's "Fair Deal" measures through the forthcoming session. They would rather keep them as issues to be used in next year's election campaign. White House is reported to be willing to go along with this strategy.

Governor Thomas Dewey of New York finds growing sentiment within his political organization to swing back to Dwight Eisenhower as the next Republican hopeful. If Mr. Dewey gives up hope of a third try at the Presidency, he probably would back General Eisenhower.

John W. Byrnes, Member of Congress from Wisconsin: "I think each voter should know exactly how his Congressman voted on every important bill."

Cedric Foster, radio commentator: "Liberalism is a good thing but it must not be confused with anarchy, depotism and destruction."

J. Lawton Collins, U. S. General Army Chief of Staff: "The Army is ready to fight anywhere, anytime."

Buy, Build and Live in Canyon.

By Vera Tarpley

"BUT THEY don't believe in Christmas, Jim—you know that." Laura wished she hadn't spoken quite so loudly; her remark had quipped in midstream three rapid-running conversations. Her guests studied the rug pattern. Jim merely looked at his wife in silence.

"I mean, after all," she went on, "it's not their religion. . . so I assumed it would be embarrassing—to them—to invite them to our Christmas party." She swallowed uncomfortably.

"And I assumed that this party was for all the fellows in our office, including Ben." He smiled then, but didn't soften the accusation. Everyone in the room knew of the close friendship between Jim and Ben—they only guessed at his wife's resentment of the friendship.

"He asked us to sing 'Silent Night' and guess what? He gave us ten dollars! And she invited us in and gave us candy and cookies."

Mr. Adams, office manager, broke the silence next. "I wouldn't worry about it too much, Jim. After all, Christmas is . . ." He emptied his glass and returned it to the coffee-table. "And we all feel a little differently about the holidays than they do."

About nine o'clock carolers came to the door, singing lustily and slightly off-key. "Let every heart prepare him room . . ." The oldest caroler was scarcely twelve. He rattled a box full of coins. Mr. Adams snatched the donation box from him, ceremoniously deposited nine pennies, and passed from guest to guest, bowing after each donation. Everyone put in nickels and dimes. Jim put in a five-dollar bill and everyone shouted "Show-off!" Laura was annoyed but kept still. Laura and Jim's little girl, Bonny, was out caroling too, but her group covered a different neighborhood.

No one noticed much when the telephone rang later in the evening and Jim went to answer it. But they noticed Jim's face when he returned to the living-room—it was white and twitched unpleasantly. Laura walked over to him. "Who was it, dear?"

"It was Ben—he called to apologize for not coming tonight."

"His daughter's been in Children's Hospital for the past month, you know."

Adams broke in. "Say, that's right—Ben said she was pulling out of it—that was last week I believe. How's she doing, did he say?"

"She died this afternoon."

Nobody seemed to have anything more to say after that. The party broke up within the next half-hour.

Just as the Adamases were leaving, Bonny came in from caroling. She was flushed with happiness and excitement. Laura clutched her in her arms convulsively.

"Did your group make a big haul tonight, Bonny?"

"Did we!" she gasped. "We got more than any other group I bet! And Mom, we sang for that Mr. Ben at Daddy's office, and—"

"Oh but you shouldn't have!" Laura looked at Jim with alarm. "Why not, Mom? He asked us to sing 'Silent Night,' and guess what? He gave us ten dollars! And she invited us in and gave us candy and cookies, and gee, they're nice! And I told them hello from you and Daddy, and you know what? She cried! Isn't that funny, mother?"

Jim looked at his stricken wife and wanted to take her in his arms, but Mr. and Mrs. Adams were standing there with their mouths open, so he merely grasped her hand firmly. Bonny babbled on happily.

"And you know what else? Mr. Ben asked me what the donations went for, and when I told him he took all the money out of his wallet and put it in our box, can you imagine? And then I asked him if he had any boys or girls like us and would they like to go caroling with us and he said no. And then she started crying again and we left. Wasn't that funny?"

Mr. Adams cleared his throat. "By the way, Bonny, just what were those donations for anyway? I forgot to notice when they came around here."

"Why, for the Children's Hospital fund—or something like that—it was all printed on the box."

For a tire to give full traction, it needs not only a full tread, but also a tread that is in full contact with the ground. By maintaining air pressure at twelve pounds, Firestone lets the whole tread come down to earth. The Champion can run safely on such low air pressure because its stronger tire body makes overinflation for sidewall support unnecessary. You get surer footing, smoother going, longer full traction tread life.
